DETAILED ACTION

This Office Action is in response to amendments and remarks filed September 22, 2004. Claims 1, 3, 4, 13-15, 20-22 and 25-30 are currently pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1, 3, 4, 20, 22, 25, 26, 28 and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Merrill et al. (U.S. Patent 6,369,853).

Regarding claims 1, 3, 4, 20, 22, 25, 26, 28 and 29, Merrill et al. disclose (see Figs. 6 and 7) an active pixel sensor (APS) comprising: a p-well (128); a photoreceptor (at 122) outside the p-well; an NMOS frame shutter (transistors 84, 88, see col. 7, lines 28-35) within the p-well; and an APS readout (92, 94, 96) for receiving charges from the NMOS frame shutter. Merrill et al. also disclose (see Figs. 6 and 7) the frame shutter includes sample and hold (86, 88, 92), reset circuits (84), source follower (92) and row select (94) transistors, which further comprises NMOS transistors.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 2878

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 13-15, 21, 27 and 30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Merrill et al. in view of Yang et al. ("A Snap-Shot CMOS Active Pixel Imager for Low-Noise, High-Speed Imaging", published December 1998).

Regarding claims 13-15, 21, 27 and 30, Merrill et al. disclose the claimed invention as set forth above. Merrill et al. do not specifically disclose a pinned photodiode. Yang et al. teach (see column 1) that active pixel sensors may also comprise pinned photodiode pixels. Thus, Yang et al. recognize that pinned photodiodes are typical in the art. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide a pinned photodiode in the apparatus of Merrill et al. in view of Yang et al. as desired for improved response.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed September 22, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant asserts that Merrill et al. disclose a storage pixel sensor with a capacitive storage element and not the claimed invention. Examiner disagrees. The claim language does not preclude a pixel sensor with a capacitive storage element. As set forth above, Merrill et al. does disclose the claimed invention. Applicant's general and conclusory statements are not found to be persuasive.

Applicant further asserts that it would not have been obvious to combine Merrill et al. in view of Yang. Examiner disagrees. Yang simply teaches that APS sensors could be made from pinned photodiodes. As set forth above, it requires only routine skill in the art and obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to choose pinned photodiodes for the APS sensor of Merrill et al.

Applicant also asserts that Merrill et al. and Yang do not disclose fabricating in a substrate. Since such language is no longer found in the claims, Applicant's assertions are irrelevant.

Thus, as set forth above, this rejection is proper.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
